A NEW TYPE protective bag, which is also transparent so that the rose bush is visible, eliminates the necessity of dipping the rose canes in wax. The purpose of the wax was to prevent the canes from drying out and in many cases the wax had a detrimental effect on the bush and prevented the bush from flourishing and growing as it should. Now this new type rose bag covers the entire rose bush and prevents the canes from drying out and thus eliminating the need for wax.

The roots are packed in damp sphagnum moss and wrapped in paper. Then, the entire plant is inserted in a large transparent rose bag with colorful designing on the front. Color pictures identify the contents of the package.

With this new type packaged rose bush you can now offer your customers field-fresh rose bushes that WILL grow for them and bloom abundantly.

No. 1 grade single pack @ 55c each, f.o.b. here (24 to case)

No. 1½ grade single pack @ 40c each, f.o.b. here (36 to case)

No. 2 grade single pack @ 35c each, f.o.b. here (48 to case)

TRIPLE PACKS (3 bushes to the pack, grades #1½ and #2). These can be furnished all same variety to package or we can offer three color assortments—Red-Pink-Yellow, Red-Pink-White, and Red-Yellow-Two Tone. Price on Triple Packs are 70c each, f.o.b. here (30 to case).

List of varieties available on request, or we will make up assortments using the most popular sellers.

We will still continue to offer the packaged roses with canes dipped in wax, and in colorfully printed cellophane bag. These are available in same grades as above at 5c per pack less than above quoted prices.
